Workforce planning and related data sources across the public sector |a signposting tool

Author: Mathew Watt

Date: 24th November 2014

https://delicious.com/workforcedata

"Improvement starts with getting the right knowledge" [1]

This document presents a brief summary and guide to the workforce data signposting tool; an online resource which signposts to publically available workforce planning and related data sources across the public sector: https://delicious.com/workforcedata.

The visual below highlights some of the data categories and key words which can be used to search through the data. This is a live resource and will be updated on a frequent basis.

Workforce planning and related data sources across the public sector |summary of contents

https://delicious.com/workforcedata

---
[1] Seddon, J. (2008). Systems thinking in the public sector

Instructions for use:

1) Go to https://delicious.com/workforcedata

2) Use the 'Tags' at the top of the page to search by keyword or type in the word you are looking for where it says 'Filter tags by ___'
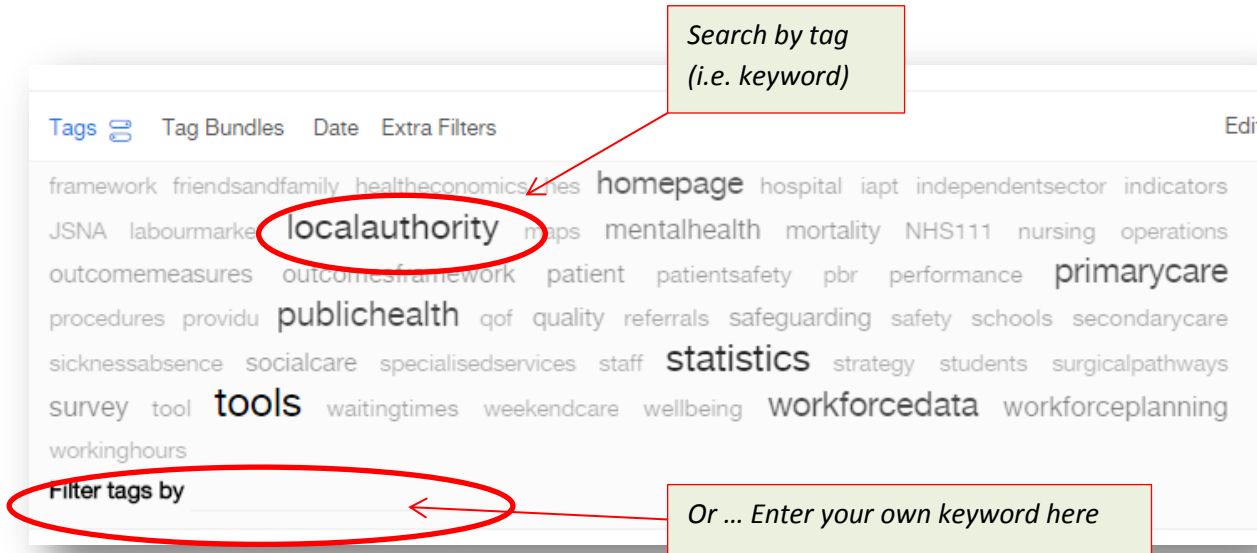

3) Either scroll down the list of available data sources OR choose a related tag to find a more specific data source. See below for an example of 'local authority'
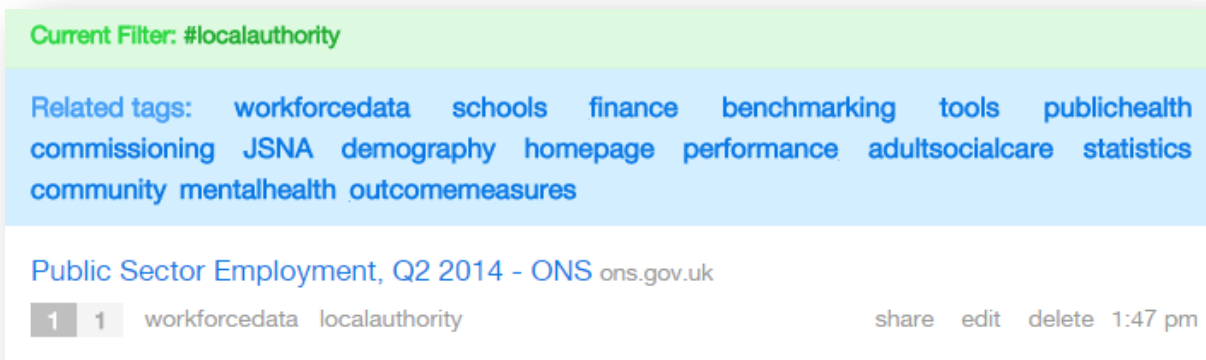

If you would like further information or have any questions/comments please contact:

Mathew Watt | Strategic Workforce Planning Lead

North Yorkshire and Humber Commissioning Support Unit

Mob: 07989 117 292 | www.nyhcsu.org.uk | Email: Mathew.Watt@nhs.net

https://delicious.com/workforcedata

www.yhcs.nhs.uk